ABN·AMRO Investment Solutions

Prosperity Defensive

a Sub-Fund of ABN AMRO Multi-Manager Funds

Share Class: I EUR Capitalisation (ISIN LU1577880864)

This Fund is managed by ABN AMRO Investment Solutions, an investment management company of the ABN Amro Group.

Objectives and Investment Policy

Capital Preservation belongs to the category of Profile Funds. The Fund seeks to increase the value of its assets over the medium term by implementing a low risk allocation strategy on various asset classes, either directly or indirectly (in derivatives on this type of asset and through Funds). Emphasis is placed on international diversification of investments.

The Fund will implement a tactical allocation around the following strategic allocation: Equities: 20%; Bonds: 80%.

The base currency of the Fund is EUR.

Income is systematically reinvested.

Investors are able to redeem on a daily basis (on Luxembourg bank business days).

Risk and Reward Profile

The Risk and Reward profile of the Fund is based on the variations in value that an investment in this Fund has experienced. The classification of the Fund is a reasonably accurate reflection of the risk of the Fund over past market conditions. Historical data used in determining the profile is not a reliable indication for the risk inherent in any future circumstances and events that differ from what the Fund has undergone in the past.

The Risk and Reward profile of a Fund is an indicator but not a target or a guarantee and may shift over time.

The lowest risk category does not mean that the Fund is free of risk. Higher possible returns generally also imply higher possible risks.

Why is the Fund in this specific category?

The risk level of this Fund is generally determined by its asset allocation, the investment markets and economic sectors, as well as the currency exposure.

The risk level of the Fund mainly reflects the risk arising from investment in equities, bonds money market and derivatives instruments of this type of asset.

Other risks materially relevant to the Fund which are not adequately captured by the indicator are described below:

Counterparty Risk: This risk is associated with the ability of a counterparty in a financial transaction to fulfil its commitments like payment, delivery and reimbursement.

Derivatives Risk: When investing in over the counter or listed derivatives, the Fund aims to hedge and/or to leverage the yield of its position. The attention of the investor is drawn to the fact that leverage increases the volatility of the Fund.

Emerging Market Risk: Investing in emerging markets is likely to be subject to a higher than average volatility. In addition, some emerging markets offer less security than the majority of international developed markets. For this reason, services for portfolio transactions, liquidation and conservation on behalf of Funds invested in emerging markets may carry greater risk.

Operational and Custody Risk: Some markets are less regulated than most of the international markets; hence, the services related to custody and liquidation for the Fund on such markets could be more risky.

Small Cap, Specialised or Restricted Sectors Risk: Investing in small caps or specialised or restricted sectors is likely to be subject to a higher than average volatility. Smaller companies may find themselves unable to generate new funds to support their growth and development, they may lack vision in management, or they may develop products for new, uncertain markets.
